BACKGROUND ON FEDERAL NUTRITION PROGRAMS

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

The SNAP program, formerly known as food stamps, is the largest federal nutrition assistance program. U.S. citizens are eligible for assistance if they meet certain income requirements.

- Most households in Oregon qualify for SNAP at or below 185% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL).

Federal Child Nutrition Programs

The National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs provide students with nutritious meals to grow and learn. The Summer Food Service Program provides free meals and snacks to students during the summer. The After School Meal and Snack Program provides suppers to children in after-school enrolled enrichment programs.

- Families qualify for free school meals at or below 130% FPL. Reduced price meals serve families with incomes between 130% and 185% FPL.
- The Summer Food Service Program and After School Meal and Snack Program are open to all children 18 years and under. Meals are served in neighborhoods where 50% or more of the students qualify for free or reduced price meals.

Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children Program (WIC)

WIC serves low-income mothers and pregnant women, and their children up to age five years. WIC provides vouchers for specific nutritious foods along with nutrition education, breastfeeding support, and health care referrals.

- Pregnant and breastfeeding women, and families with children under five, qualify for the WIC program at or below 185% FPL.

WIC/Seniors Farm Direct Nutrition Program

The Farm Direct Nutrition Program assists families enrolled in the WIC program and low-income seniors. It helps them access fresh fruits and vegetables during the growing season and supports local farmers and farmers' markets.

- WIC families qualify for Farm Direct at or below 185% FPL (with the exception of children 6 months and under).
- Seniors qualify when they receive SNAP/food stamps or Medicaid benefits, and have an income that does not exceed 135% FPL.
